It hit me with no mercy
Knocked me off my feet
The fearful sound of silence
No one dared to speak

Afraid that my voice
Would make you turn me down
But the absence of words
Is an awful sound

I know where I belong
My heart is set to love you
This road will take me home
With all its grief and sorrow
When life is pouring over
I'll stand with who I am
Though I sometimes will be broken
I know where I belong

My fear of insufficiency follows me around
But to make the good decisions
We need a common ground

If all this was lost
It would break my heart
If this was the end
Where would I start

I know where I belong
My heart is set to love you
This road will take me home
With all its grief and sorrow
When life is pouring over
I'll stand with who I am
Though I sometimes will be broken
I know where I belong
