Out of my hands I am giving the fragile parts of my heart again
Please receive and handle with care
This part of a dream of life
Evolving from truth and joy
It's a dangerous game to play
If you don't play your part

No daring no sharing
No blood being shed
No aching no healing
No soul's being fed

Hear my voice and remember the words that came from my heart again
Listen learn and tell me the colours and shapes of your heart today
What's lost the season has changed to death
Now in this dangerous game we played and now it's too late

No daring no sharing
No blood being shed
No aching no healing
No soul's being fed

Who deserves love
A love that lasts forever
Take a look around all you see is walking wounded
What is there to give
When you've reached the bottom
Take a step of faith make sure you walk upright

No daring no sharing
No blood being shed
No aching no healing
No soul's being fed
